

[1] Before We Start...

What kind of person do you adore?

[2] Definitions:

richness

value

achievements

what matters

what you treasure

flow

hold dear

prime

concerns

within

adore

stuff yourself / fill yourself

goodness

compassion

purpose

outpouring

cascade

glorious

[3] Watch the presentation[4] Read the text

YOUR WORLD LIES WITHIN

What you have inside of you is who you truly are. What do you have inside of you? What do you see, create and value?

If your heart is filled with love, you will in time be surrounded by love. If your mind is full of thankfulness, you will have richness. If you can see value in achievements, then you will become successful.

What matters to you, what you treasure inside of yourself is what will flow into every part of your life. What you make and hold dear becomes you.

The prime concerns within you will decide your realities. The things that you adore and focus on deeply will be your world.

Who you are on the outside is just an image of what people see of you in their world. It's the "you" that is inside which is the true you and is what is most important.

Stuff yourself with love and thankfulness. Fill yourself with happiness, warmth, goodness, compassion, love and real purpose. When you do, all of life's wonderful gifts will be outpouring from and cascading to you in a bright, glorious way.

Think about: The real you is more important than the image that people see of you. Others just see what they see from their world.

[5] Circle the correct word:

- What you have [inside / outside] of you is who you are.
- What truly matters to [you / others] is what will flow into every part of your life.
- What people see of you on the [inside / outside] is just a reflection of their world.
- Life's wonderful gift will cascade to you if you fill yourself with [communion / compassion].

[6] Finish the phrases:

who you truly _____
 what matters to _____ into every part of your _____ who you are on the _____
 is what is most _____ fill yourself with _____ in a bright, glorious _____

HINTS: outside you are happiness way important life

[7] Listen and fill in the blanks:

What _____ you, what you _____ inside of yourself is what _____ every part of your life. What you _____ becomes you. The _____ concerns within you will decide your _____.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT

In pairs or in a small group, answer or do the following:

1. Word Search - Find collocates, other meanings, information, synonyms, etc., for the words 'richness' and 'purpose'

richness	purpose
----------	---------

2. Fill in the chart with ORIGINAL examples of how what you are full of what you will become.

If...	you will...
If your heart is filled with love	... you will in time be surrounded by love.

3. What does the title of this session, 'Your world lies within' mean?

STUDENT NAMES & CLASS NUMBERS: